170 East Water street,

Third door north of Michigan street, up stairs,

And 335 Third st., 2d Ward, old stand,

Milwaukee, - - Wisconsin.

HENRY NIEDECKEN,

A PRACTICAL BOOK-BINDER of long experience, in all its branches, would most respectfully inform the citizens of Milwaukee and the surrounding country, that he is prepared to bind any description of Books, being possessed of the best gilding and finishing tools, and keeping constantly on hand the first quality of binding material. He has found it necessary, by reason of increasing business, (consequent upon his low price and superior quality of work and materials,) to open another for the convenience of his "down town" friends, at the above mentioned place, where he will be happy to see his old customers and as many new ones as will favor him with their patronage

Bindery, Ruling and Blank Book Establishment,

Blank Books for banks, merchants, county clerks, recorders, auditors, treasurers, school commissioners, magistrates, insurance offices, &c, manufactured in the best manner, which in elegance, durability, and superiority of style and finish, will not be surpassed by any eastern manufacturer. In all his large blank books, he uses the improved patent mode of sewing, which gives strength, with great elasticity, and is incomparably superior to any other method for blank books, and will keep the leaves firm and solid while the book lasts, instead of coming to pieces, as is often the case with all other methods. No additional charge is made for this improvement.

Machine Ruling.—Ruling of every description, for blank books, tax lists, &c, neatly and promptly executed

Fancy Articles.—He is also prepared to make all kinds of fancy articles, such as ladies' and gentlemen's portfolios, caskets, card, spectacle and segar cases, pocket books, &c, with neatness and despatch.

Ruled Music Paper.—He will also keep on hand a supply of blank paper ruled for manuscript music, which he can sell at so low a price that it will be a great saving of time, labor and money, to buy this all ruled and ready for writing the music

Albums, Magazines, Music Books, &c, will be bound with the greatest care, and in a neat and elegant style, to which the attention of the ladies is most particularly invited.

Bibles, Hymn, Prayer and School Books, are constantly kept on hand, as also

STATIONERY, of all kinds, such as writing paper, ink, quills, steel pens, sealing wax, slates, writing books, and wafers, and a variety of books too numerous to mention.

GILT PICTURE FRAMES.

He is also in constant receipt, (imported direct from Germany by himself,) of a superior article of gilt frames, of all sizes, which he will sell at prices which cannot fail of suiting purchasers. He will be happy to show his goods and style of work to all who will favor him with a call, as he is confident that he can please every variety of taste. By good work and honest dealing, he expects to gain the patronage of the citizens of Milwaukee and the surrounding country oct12 d24

WILLIAM PENN.

William Penn was born in London, in 1644. He was the only son of William Penn, vice admiral of England, in the time of Cromwell, and afterwards knighted by Charles II. He appears to have been seriously inclined from his youth, and in his twelfth year, his religious impressions were confirmed by the ministry of an eminent preacher among a newly associated sect, called Quakers. When 15 years old, he entered Christ Church College, Oxford. He here met some other students devoutly inclined, like himself, and they ventured to hold private meetings among themselves. This gave great offence to the heads of the college, and the offenders were at first confined to their rooms; but persisting in their religious exercises, they were finally expelled from the university. On his return home, his father endeavored to divert him from his newly-acquired ideas, as likely to stand in the way of his promotion in the world; but finding him inflexible, he beat him severely and turned him out of doors. His mother interceded for him, however, and young Penn was sent to Paris, where he became so skilled in the French language, and other polite accomplishments, that he was again joyfully received at home.

Penn now devoted himself to the study of the law till his 27th year, when his father sent him to Ireland, to undertake the management of a considerable estate there. At Cork, he again met with the person whose preaching had so much affected his early life. At a meeting in that city, the preacher began his address with these words: "There is a faith that overcomes the world, and there is a faith that is overcome by the world;" which so affected Penn, that from that time he constantly attended the meetings of the Quakers, though in a period of hot persecution His father, being informed of his conduct, remanded him home; but finding him determined to abide by his own convictions of duty, endeavored to come to an understanding with him; he agreed to forget his other peculiarities, if he would only consent to take off his hat in the presence of the king and of himself. Being disappointed in this, he could no longer endure the sight of his son, and a second time drove him from his family. Yet, after a while, being convinced of his integrity, he suffered him to return; and though he never openly countenanced him, he often used his influence to get him released, when imprisoned for his attendance at religious meetings.

In the 24th year of his age, Penn first appeared as a minister and an author; and it was on account of his second essay, "The Sandy Foundations shaken," that he was imprisoned in the Tower, where he remained seven months. He here wrote his most celebrated work, "No Cross, no Crown." In 1670, the meetings of dissenters were forbidden, under severe penalties. The Quakers, however, believing it their religious duty, continued to meet as usual; and when forcibly kept out of their meeting-houses, assembled as near to them as they could in the street. At one of these meetings, William Penn preached to the people thus united for divine worship. For this, he was committed to Newgate, and was soon after indicted for "being present at, and preaching to an unlawful, seditious and riotous assembly." He pleaded his own cause, though menaced by the judge, and was finally acquitted by the jury. He was, nevertheless, detained in prison, and the jury were fined for their verdict. His father died this year, fully reconciled to his son, to whom he left a large estate, taking leave of him in these remarkable words: "Son William, let nothing in this world tempt you to wrong your conscience. So will you keep peace at home, which will be a feast to you in a day of trouble." Short after this event, Penn travelled into Holland and Germany, and in 1672, married Gulielma Maria Springett, a lady whose father was an eminent minister and writer among the Quakers

The persecution of the dissenters continued to rage for many years, notwithstanding their repeated applications to parliament for protection; and Penn turned his thought towards a settlement in the new world, as a place where he and his friends might enjoy their religious opinions without molestation, and where an example might be set of a just and righteous government. "There may be room there," said he, "though not here, for such a holy experiment." He therefore in 1681, solicited a patent from Charles II., for a province in North America, which the king readily granted, in consideration of his father's services.—Penn soon after published a description of the province, proposing easy terms of settlement to such as might be disposed to go thither. He also wrote to the Indian natives, informing them of his desire to hold his possession with their consent and good will. He then drew up the Fundamental Constitution of Pennsylvania, and the following year published the Frame of Government. Upon the publication of these proposals, many respectable families removed to the new province; the city of Philadelphia was laid out, upon the banks of the Delaware, and in 1682, the proprietor visited his territory, where he remained about two years, adjusting its concerns, and establishing a friendly intercourse with his colonial neighbors. During this period, no less than fifty ships arrived, with settlers from England, Ireland, Wales, Holland and Germany.

On his return to England, he solicited of the king the discharge of his persecuted brethren, fifteen hundred of whom remained in prison. The king's proclamation for a general pardon was soon issued, which was followed by his suspension of the laws imposing penalties upon the dissenters. Political disturbances ensuing in England, Penn withdrew from public notice till 1698. During his retirement, he composed several works, the best known of which bears the title of "Fruits of Solitude," and consists of Reflections and Maxims, relating to the Conduct of Human Life. Soon after his return to society, he lost his wife, Gulielma, to which he said, all his other troubles were as nothing in comparison. He sailed again for Pennsylvania in 1699, intending to make his province his future home, but two years afterwards, he returned to England. In 1710, finding that the air of London disagreed with his declining health, he took a handsome seat in Buckinghamshire, where he resided till his death. In 1712, he had three distinct apoplectic fits. The last of these so impaired his memory and understanding, as to render him ever after unfit for public service In 1717, he hardly knew his old acquaintance, nor could he walk without leading. He died the next year. His writings bespeak his character as a Christian and a philanthropist. Of his ability as a politician and a legislator, the prosperity of Pennsylvania is a lasting monument.

MILWAUKEE:

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, FEB. 1.

Mr. Wilson's Land Limitation Bill.

The introduction of a Land Limitation bill into the Assembly, by Mr. Wilson of this city, has occasioned a general onslaught upon this measure by a portion of the press, and especially by our neighbors of the Sentinel and Wisconsin. The Sentinel characterizes it as an 'absurd,' 'useless and unrighteous scheme,' 'hatched by demagogues,' but consoles itself with the reflection that 'neither people nor representatives are yet stark mad' enough to adopt it, and declares finally, it 'shall be happy to announce the bursting of this brilliant bubble.' The Wisconsin grows violent over it, and denounces it as 'a scheme of public and private plunder,' 'a blow aimed at the rights of property,' an 'attempt to break down the guaranties of the Constitutution of our State,' 'put an end to enterprise, and take away every inducement to industry and prudence, and arrest men in their lawful acquisition of property.'

We need not quote further. We are glad to see these papers taking their ground on this question, openly and aboveboard. We are to have a fight on this question, at some time, and we may as well commence a general skirmish now. We deny, then, in toto, the assumptions and assertions of both the Sentinel and Wisconsin, in regard to this bill. The prime object of this bill is, to prevent the accumulation of large landed estates in the hands of single owners, and to encourage and aid the poor in providing themselves with homes. Is not this a good object? It proposes, with a slight exception, to maintain the statu quo in regard to all the present possessors of landed property, and allows to each person to acquire and possess, in future, 320 acres of arable land—as much certainly as any individual can possibly cultivate. We are not particular as to the amount, and would be willing, for the sake of establishing the principle, to extend it to double the amount, tho' we think 320 acres are more than any man ought to attempt to cultivate.

This bill is designed to encourage the tillers, to become owners of the soil, by preventing a few capitalists from appropriating and monopolizing all the public lands in the State, and to make the tenants, the legal possessors of homes. Section 7th of the bill provides, that if any person owns more than two city or village lots, of one acre each—one for his dwelling, and one for his store, shop, or place of business—he shall be taxed, for each additional lot, as follows: twice the usual sum for the 3d lot, three times for the 4th, four times for the 5th, and so on in arithmetical progression. We think it would have been better to have omitted this section of the bill, as it touches land monopolists in a tender spot, and will be likely to arouse more opposition than any other feature of the bill. Both the Sentinel and Wisconsin contend that this is unconstitutional, the Sentinel affirming that the Constitution requires taxation to "be equal and uniform." We don't know as we understand the Sentinel. The only constitutional provision on this subject is Sec. 1st of Art. 8th—"The rule of taxation shall be uniform, and taxes shall be levied upon such property as the Legislature shall prescribe." We see nothing in this clause to conflict with the 7th section of this bill. The Legislature may tax such property as it pleases, and in such a way as it pleases, provided it adopts a uniform rule. The rule prescribed by the 7th section of Mr. Wilson's bill is uniform, applying uniformly to all persons who own over two city or village lots, of one acre each. Such a provision may be inexpedient, but it is not unconstitutional. The principle is already in practical operation in this State, and in every State in the Union. The Legislature (see Revised Statutes, pages 138-'9, 224, 271) have entirely exempted a certain amount of property from taxation, on the ground that persons owning no more than that amount are not able to pay taxes, and have thrown the burden of taxes upon those who were able to pay. This section proceeds on the righteous principle, that a person owning two or three acres of land, in a city, is better able to pay taxes than the person who owns but one acre, and can afford to pay a higher rate of tax for his surplus acres. And as it is proposed to postpone the operation of this section to some future period—say five or ten years—those who do not wish to pay an extra tax can easily avoid it, by disposing of their surplus lands to the landless.

There are hundreds of men in this city anxious to become home owners, but are unable to do so, because the vacant lots in this city are monopolized by a few, who refuse to sell at all, or only at the most exorbitant prices. We contend that the principle is just and equal,—that it is not a new principle in legislation; that the Legislature have ample power to enact such a law, and that so far from producing the ruinous effects which the Sentinel and Wisconsin predict, it would tend to multiply happy homes, give independence to the industrial classes, build up our cities and villages with astonishing rapidity, and promote the comfort, wealth, and general prosperity of the people of this State.

Free Suffrage.—Resolutions were passed at the last session of the Legislature, providing for such an amendment of the Constitution as to enable the electors of the State, by a majority vote on that question, to extend the right of suffrage to colored persons These resolutions it was the duty of the Secretary to publish three months before the last election, but it was not done. Will the Secretary of State explain the reason for this omission? We were quite sure such resolutions had passed, and were looking for their general publication last summer, but as they did not appear, we concluded we were mistaken. But the editor of the Beloit Journal, who was a member of the last Legislature, and one of the committee who reported the resolutions, says they were passed, and charges their concealment to the sins of Locofocoism. Where rests the blame?

Bank Report.—Mr. Jenkins, from the Committee on incorporations, has reported in favor of submitting the question of Banks or no Banks to the people, on the ground that the Constitution provides for and contemplates such a procedure—such was the intention of the framers of the Constitution—that there is no good reason why the question should not be submitted—it is Democratic to let the people decide it, and their action should be final. The Report is brief but pertinent.

Still on the Track.—Gen. Cass, in a letter to the Cincinnati Enquirer, "expresses surprise, that his letter to Mr. Stevenson should be construed to mean any thing more than his refusing, if elected, to be a candidate for a second term." Modest man!

Message of the Governor of Wisconsin.—There is much of this message of Governor Dewey, with which we coincide entirely, but he says some things which we are not disposed to receive quite for gospel. There are paragraphs in the copy we have received, which are so confused that, knowing the Governor to be a man of talent we are inclined to think the document is misprinted.—Buffalo Commercial.

You are out there, neighbor. At least your description corresponds precisely with our official copy. The Governor is "a man of talent," but is not very talented as a writer.

☞ The democratic members of the Legislature and of the Constitutional Convention, of Indiana, on the 18th ult. nominated Gen. Joseph Lane, who ran away from his post while Governor of Oregon, as a candidate for the Presidency.

Steamers advertised.—The Globe is advertised to leave Buffalo on the 9th of April—and the Hendrik Hudson on the 8th, for the Upper Lakes.

☞ The Free Democrats in the Ohio Legislature, have nominated J. R. Giddings for Senator.

☞ The Vermont law, for the protection of all men's rights in that State, arraying its judicial power upon the side of the alleged slave, is exciting general attention thro'out the country. The passage of such a law by the Vermonters, justifies the eulogy which N. P. Rogers passed upon that State so long ago as 1838. He said:

"We have recently journeyed through a portion of this free State, and it is not all imagination in us, that sees, in its bold scenery—its uninfected, inland position, its mountainous, but fertile and verdant surface, the secret of the noble and anti-slavery predisposition of its people. They are located for freedom.—Liberty's home is on their Green Mountains. Their farmer-republic no where touches the ocean—the highway of the world's crimes, as well as its nations. It has no seaport for the importation of slavery, or the exportation of its own highland republicanism. Vermont is, accordingly, the earliest anti-slavery State, and should slavery ever prevail over this nation to its utter subjugation, the last, lingering footsteps of retiring liberty will be seen—not, as Daniel Webster said, in the proud old commonwealth of Massachusetts, about Bunker Hill and Faneuil Hall, (places long since deserted of freedom)—but wailing, like Jeptha's daughter, among the 'hollows' and along the sides of the Green Mountains."

Allegheny City, Pa., has elected a Whig Mayor, and a majority of Whig officers.

CITY MATTERS.

Pork Packing.—A larger business than has ever been before transacted in this line, is carried on in Milwaukee this winter. Great quantities of pork are brought in, and packed, for which the demand is good, to fill orders at the east. A firm the other day contracted of a packer, 100 barrels, at $11, to be delivered. The next day, however, the packer wished to be released, and was glad to be let off by forking over $30. Such facts are encouraging to those in the business.

One house yesterday paid as high as $4,50, for some extra nice.

☞ The Gas contract with Mr. George F. Lee, and others, was declared by the Common Council, at their last meeting, forfeited, by non-compliance with it sterms. If the city want gas to use, we can refer it to a man that can furnish enough for two such burgs as this, and then have some to spare.

Accident.—Adam Schmidt, Porter at Clarke & Woodruff's Drug Store, in attempting to get a barrel of oil out of the cellar, yesterday, was severely injured by the barrel's slipping back and rolling over his leg, doubling it under him, and nearly crushing it. He is under the care of Dr's. J. G. Woolcott and Whitney. He is in poor circumstances, and by this accident those depending upon him, will be thrown upon the community for support.

We are requested to state that the Rev. Mr. Bassett will preach to-morrow afternoon, at the Free Church, on the subject of the Union. As ministers in various parts of the country have been at this subject, we hope Mr Basset will have a hearing.

☞ The Musical Society give a Concert next Monday evening.

Snow.—A fall of snow last night makes tolerable slipping around.

Edwin Jenks, vs. Egbert Mosley, Sheriff. }

This was an action of Replevin, brought by plaintiff, against the Sheriff, to recover certain goods, taken by him, by virtue of a writ of attachment, issued out of the Circuit Court for Milwaukee county, in favor of Horace Waldo, vs. one Theophilus Peck. Plaintiff claims as purchaser from Peck. Def't denies the legality of the sale, and charges fraudulent intent on part of Peck. Jury did not agree. Finch & Lynde, for pl'ff; Albert Smith and C. K. Watkins, for def't.

Francis McFall, et. al. vs. George E. Graves, Sheriff }

This is an important case, it being an action for neglect of duty, as Sheriff.

In 1847, the plaintiff shipped, per steamer Illinois, from Chicago to Milwaukee, certain packages of merchandize, part of which was lost, for which the plaintiff sued, out of the Circuit Court for this county, a writ of attachment vs. Oliver Newberry, to satisfy the demand. The writ was delivered to the Sheriff, and he was directed to levy upon and attach the steamer Michigan, as property of Newberry, which he did, and then demanded a bond of indemnity, which plaintiffs refusing to give, he discharged the boat—whereupon plaintiffs sued the Sheriff. Judgment for plaintiffs, $453 81.

S. Sea and J. E. Arnold, for pliff's; H. S. Orton, for def't.

The case of Lord vs. Hutchinson and others—the evidence closed this forenoon.

ACCOMPLISHED RASCALITY.

We are not one of those who say, "Vice to hated needs but to be seen." Too often seen, we first endure, then embrace it. Vice should be known only by name, and that by [illegible] then it can be abhorred and shunned. But in certain cases of gross and atrocious [illegible], a full exposition is proper and necessary for the [illegible] of the community. A [illegible] for [illegible] years, polluting the [illegible] of his neighbors, betraying innocence [illegible], while he has the [illegible] respect of the public, and for [illegible] his guilt may be aroused [illegible] but his victims. He may [illegible] is a stranger, and his [illegible] repeated, and so, his [illegible] live with safety in violation [illegible] rights and interests. He [illegible] sacred profession, [illegible] the sanctity of his calling to [illegible] with impunity. In [illegible] the good of society requires a full [illegible] however it may shock the delicacy [illegible] of any. Such a history we have [illegible].

Reuben D. Turner is the name of a man, [illegible] Virginia, and supposed to be a foundling [illegible] there is no positive proof. He was taken to New York, and educated for the ministry in a charitable institution. He commenced his career by embezzling the funds [illegible]. He seduced the daughter of the lady with whom he boarded, and was [illegible] Such a promising [illegible] well followed up. He removed [illegible] to Michigan, and thence, something like [illegible] ago, to Waukesha county in this State. He was there befriended, and nearly supported, for two years, by a citizen of the highest respectability, warm-hearted, hospitable and generous, who had a daughter of about the age of fifteen years. Turner and his wife, as we understand, boarded in [illegible] for some time. While here he [illegible] the seed in the mind of that young girl from which was afterward reaped a bitter fruit, to herself and friends. A year or more ago, Turner moved to Fort Wayne, Indiana, where, being settled, and in the [illegible] performance of clerical duties around the country, as opportunity offered, he invited the daughter of his benefactor to go to his house and spend the (last) winter with him, as a slight repayment of the obligation he was under to him. While she, the daughter of his confiding friend, was a guest at his house, and a recipient of his hospitality, the heartless, lecherous villain, betrayed the unsuspecting confidence of youth and innocence [illegible]. What arts—what taking of long journeys, to be gone days and nights, where [illegible] might wait on opportunity,"—what reading of lascivious passages in books, to her [illegible], and all the infernal means he used to debauch her, would be too gross and abhorrent [illegible] to appear in public print. Suffice it to say, she returned to her father and her home, betrayed, outraged and ruined, the prospective mother of a child unborn.

These facts were stated by Mr. ——, a gentleman living at Ft. Wayne, and Turner sued him for slander. To prove the facts, Mr. —— made a journey to New York, and got depositions in full of the truth of the statement made in regard to Turner's early history, of his numerous seductions, adulteries, and villanies generally. He returned with his proofs, except the depositions of the last victim of Turner's rascality, which are on file in Waukesha county. Turner came up to this State a short time ago, to hunt up and cross-examine the deponent. While in our sister county, he was arrested under the statute against seduction, and held to bail in the sum of $10,000, and committed in default. Last Saturday, he was taken out of jail on a writ of habeas corpus for a reduction of the bail, but the effort was unsuccessful, and he was returned to the jug—there to abide till trial. We hope for such an upshot to the affair, as will be a caution to rogues in general, and this one in particular.

ANECDOTE.—A good one is told of Deacon T., of Salisbury, who was famous in his day for telling stories, especially when the minister came to make his weekly visit, when he would enliven the time by relating little incidents which had happened to him in his sojourn on earth. "On one occasion," said the good deacon, "I came very near falling into the hands of a monstrous great bear. It was one afternoon, while out hoeing beans, and I had nearly finished the lot, when, on happening to look round, what should I see but a great black bear making toward me at a brisk trot! For a moment I thought it was all over with me, but as good fortune would have it, it happened there was a great snow bank on the opposite side of the fence from the field in which the bear was, and in jumping over the critter sunk down into it so far that he could not get out, and thus, through the Providence of God, was I enabled to escape."—"Pray, deacon," asked the parson, at this conclusion of the story, "where did you get that seed?"—Villager.

GOOD ADVICE.—Somebody, who knew all about it, has said:

If wisdom's ways you wisely seek,
Five things observe with care—
Of whom you speak, to whom you speak,
And how, and when, and where.

VARIETY.

Recent explorations prove that the State of Arkansas posses an abundance of mineral resources, and that in two articles, coal and lead, she is expected to equal the States of Pennsylvania and Missouri.

A recent decision of Chancellor Mason, of Alabama, has established the right of slaves to the benefits of the writ habeas corpus, upon the petition of any free white person.—The object and extent of the writ is to release from any illegal confinement in which they may be held.

Won't face the Music!—Gen. Cass has positively declined being a candidate for re-election to the U. S. Senate. He no doubt has good reasons for this step. A defeat at home would opperate disastrously on his chances for the Presidency.—Chicago Citizen.

Mr. Bancroft, the historian, has estimated that at least one-third of the white population of the United States are directly descended from the 22,000 Puritan emigrants who first settled New England.

Bishop Southgate has declined the Episcopate of California, to which he has been elected.—but enough can be found to take it.

Queen Anne.—Queen Anne, it is said, used to have her prayers read to her while she dressed—the chaplain being in the outward room. Once ordering the door to be shut while she dressed, the chaplain made a dead halt. The Queen sent to ask why he did not proceed. He replied "he would not whistle the word of God through the key-hole."

Terrill's block in Otsego, N. Y. was destroyed by fire, Jan. 18th.

Rev. Dr. Murray (Kirwan) lectured in the Broadway Tabernacle, Sunday evening, Jan. 19th, on the decline of Popery. Crowds went away for want of room. His address is to be printed.

Mr. Fuller, of Waukesha Co., has introduced a bill intto the Assembly, incorporating the Nemahbin and Pine Lake Plank, Turnpike and Railroad Company, connecting Nemahbin and Pine Lakes.

COALITION CANDIDATES.—The National Era says, three coalition tickets are talked of for the next Presidency and Vice Presidency—Fillmore and Cobb, Webster and Foote, Clay and Dickinson. The basis of this party is the Fugitive Slave Law. A plain confession that neither party can be trusted to sustain Slave Hunting.

Preston King, the Era says, will be confined to his room the rest of the Session of Congress, in consequence of breaking the cap of his knee pan.

Mallory of Key West, a Union Democrat takes the place of Yulee, Disunionist, in the U. S. Senate, His election was effected by a union of Whigs and dissatisfied Democrats.

How is it possible for the Sons of Temperance to live in accordance with their motto of love and unity while there are so many divissions among them?

A duellist who fancied himself insulted by a Yankee who had won the affections of his lady love, left the room with the ominious words: "You'll hear from me sir!"

"Well, do so," replied the Yankee; "glad on't; write once in a while; I should be glad to hear from you as often you have a mind to to let me know how you're gettin' along."

FOND DU LAC COUNTY.—The aggregate valuetion of real and personal estate in this county, in round numbers, is as follows:

Real estate, $1,473,197; personal property, 132,956; estimated cash value of all, 2,264,000; state tax, 3,188; county tax, 6,105; school tax, 2,280; value of church property, 5,765; number of school libraries, 32; number of volumes, 1,963.

The town of Fond du Lac contains two steam saw-mills, 2 water powers saw-mills, 1 flouring mill, 9 Physicians, 27 lawyers, 37 stores of different kinds, 13 shoe shops, 5 cabinet shops, 11 hotels, 37 places where liquor is sold, 3 churches and one Jenny Lind.

The population of Fond du Lac county on the first of June last, was 15,448. The increase since Dec. 15 1847, is over 8,000.

The present polulation is estimated at 18,-000.

The present population of this town is not far from 2,260.—Journal.

NEW ENGLAND ART-UNION.—The almost unlimited success of the New York Art-Union has induced the artists of New England and their liberal friends to found an institution in this metropolis. In one point we think it decidedly more satisfactory than the New York plan. The prizes are not pictures, but money, or rather scrip, with which the lucky holder may purchase any picture he may select. In this way, every prize becomes of real value to the drawer, whereas in the other picture lottery it is quite possible to draw a large prize, which one would not care to take home. We see no reason why there should not be a decided rush into this new Art speculation. Success to it.—Boston Chronotype.

☞ No Senator was elected in Massachusetts, up to yesterday P. M. The Free Soilers have in good faith, so far as they were concerned, carried out the arrangement to which they as well as the Democrats pledged themselves in caucus. A few of the more rotten hunkers now held out against their pledge to support Mr. Sumner; and the probability now is, that they will either prevent an election at this session, or follow the example of the hunker Rottens of Missouri in electing a whig. This class of politicians are now combining throughout the country, to prevent the ascendancy of democratic principles; and the free democracy will be compelled in self defense to maintain a strictly independent position, avoiding all connection with men who are not fully committed to the support of their principles.—*Toledo Com. Latest and best Collection of Church Music.
NOW READY,
THE GOLDEN LYRE:
A NEW Collection of Church Music adapted to the various metres now in use, together with a great variety of new Anthems, Sentences and Chants, for choirs, singing classes, musical associations, and social sacred music circles—by V C TAYLOR, author of "Taylor's Sacred Music Minstrel," "Choral Anthems," &c &c
"We have explored its contents enough to dare to speak well of it. Mr Taylor is, himself, the author of a good part of the work, and he shows musical feeling, taste and invention, which make it no presumption in him to appear as a composer * * * Mr Taylor's pieces are commended by their melody woven into all the four parts, by their expressiveness, which always varies with the subject, and by their uniformly artistic style * * * And last, but not least, the work is more beautifully and clearly printed than any work which we remember of the kind"—N Y Tribune
"We believe the book to be greatly superior to any that has preceded it, and we think it may claim to be better adapted to, and more suitable for, the use of choirs"—Saroni's Musical Times
"We have examined this new collection of church music, and would add our favorable opinion of its merits, to the many encomiums it has elicited"—N Y Evangelist HAWLEY, FULLER & CO,

THE
OR
MODERN DOMESTIC MEDICINE
BY KEITH IMRAY, M. D.
Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians, and Licentiate of the Royal College of Surgeons, Edinburgh.
AMERICAN EDITION.
One large Octavo Volume, substantially bound.

THIS work presents a concise but clear view of the predisposing causes, premonitory signs, and distinguishing symptoms of disease, with the methods of cure recommended by the most eminent physicians.

The best modes of employing the medicines in general use are faithfully described; and the most approved rules for regulating diet and regimen during the periods of disease and convalescence, are amply furnished.

The art of Preserving Health, embracing special Treatises on Diet, Air, Temperance, Bathing, Clothing, and Exercise, is fully considered.

The publishers of the American edition have introduced Dr. Imray's work with short, illustrated, very complete sketches of Anatomy, Physiology and Surgery; and with directions for the domestic management of the sick, the preparation of their food, and the economy of the sick room, &c. They have also annexed a comprehensive MOTHER'S MEDICAL GUIDE, containing directions for the preservation of health during pregnancy, rules for managing the lying-in-room, and the treatment of infants, including air, clothing, exercise, &c. Also, a large number of valuable prescriptions, arranged for ready application; and a very full classified table of medicines, exhibiting their medicinal properties, doses and uses.

The Index is unusually complete, making the whole a most perfect and valuable work for families.

It can confidently be recommended to physicians and apothecaries, as well as to the public, as a book that will be found singularly convenient for ready reference.

GREAT ARRIVAL OF

191 East Water st., Martin's New Block.

EXTRAORDINARY AND DAILY INCREASING ATTRACTIONS AT

NEW-YORK STORE.

Established in Milwaukee in May, 1849,

IN connection with one of the most extensive Importing Houses in New York city, for the purpose of establishing a large and permanent business, on the Cash system.

The proprietors of this already well known and popular establishment take this way of informing numerous patrons, in town and country, that they have made such arrangements to meet the exigencies of their rapidly increasing business, as will enable them to offer still greater inducements to purchasers Their Fall and Winter stock is beyond comparison the most extensive and varied embracing every article usually found in first class houses in the Atlantic cities.

In the Western Country,

To those who have already dealt with them, they deem it unnecessary to allude to their ability and determination to undersell any other House west of New York city. To those who have not yet examined

THEIR STOCK OR PRICES,

they would say, through their connection in New-York, and an almost unlimited business, they are enabled to keep a resident buyer of great experience in New York and Boston markets, and many other goods are imported direct for their own trade in the original packages, thus securing many that cannot be found at any other establishment here.

Their arrangements are so complete that they can, and pledge themselves that they will sell every piece and style of goods as low as they can be bought in the most celebrated cheap stores in New York or Boston Every piece and style of goods in this establishment, being bought of first hands or at auction, or imported direct, and consequently from

25 to 30 PER CENT. LESS than Western Merchants pay for them—in fact we sell many styles of goods for less than western merchants pay for them in New York or Boston Every article will be marked at the very lowest price, and will be guaranteed less in every instance than a similar article can be bought elsewhere

We annex the following list of prices—which we think can hardly fail to convince the public—that this is not one of the humbug pretensions of the day.

LIFE ASSURANCE.

Ætna Insurance Company, HARTFORD, Conn.—ANNUITY FUND, $150,000.—This well known and long established Company, having organized a new department for LIFE INSURANCE, with an entirely distinct capital, exclusively pledged with its reserved accumulations, for the payment of losses upon Life Insurance only, and in no event liable for the other debts, contracts, or engagements of the Company, is now prepared to issue Policies on Lives, at rates materially reduced from those charged by the Mutual Companies. The leading idea of the system adopted by this Company, is, to ascertain precisely what it is worth to insure a given amount upon a life for a certain time, and to charge precisely that sum, and no more: it is attended with none of those vexatious contingencies which are inseparable from the mutual system—it has nothing to do with scrip dividends or bonuses, the declaration of which upon true and equitable principles, is attended with so much difficulty and perplexity—it is perfectly simple, as well as uniform and equal in all its operations.

The promptness, fairness and liberality which have marked all the dealings of this Company, for a period of thirty years, and the well known character of its officers and directors, afford the surest guaranty that its affairs will be so managed as to afford to the assured that ultimate safety and security which is of first importance in Life Assurance.

Policies will be granted payable after death, or upon the party's arriving at a specified age, at his option; in either case, free from the claims of creditors The usual extra risks will be assumed by this Company at reasonable rates.

Pamphlets containing Rates of Premium, and information in relation to the plan of operations, and all necessary papers to effect insurance, may be obtained at the Agency of this Company.

TO THE LADIES.

DYER'S WASHING, BLEACHING AND

CLEANSING FLUID!

The greatest labor-saving article yet discovered

BY its use, washing machines and boards and hard rubbing, are entirely dispensed with, and not one quarter of the labor is required to do the washing of a family. The Fluid is a chemical compound of sufficient strength to extract all foreign substances from the cloth, by simply boiling a small quantity of it with the clothes, and without the slightest injury to the most delicate fabric

The expense is not more than that of the soap ordinarily used, and besides this it will be seen that the great wear and tear of clothing consequent upon the old method of hard rubbing upon a board, and the use of the pounding barrel, is wholly dispensed with, and an immense saving is thus made. It is emphatically the female's friend ☞ Warranted to give perfect satisfaction or the money will be refunded.

Prepared only by Charles Dyer, Jr, at his medical depot, 52 Westminster st, Providence, R I
